Thomas Spiegle Sr. I notice one thing from a lot of these videos. The first major punch is almost always from behind or unexpected.

Matthew Flowers Of course. The spineless cockroach wont fight one-on-one. See how they scatter just like their six legged cousins when more whites arrive to even the odds.

Rhonda Maples This is how our news put it, it's sad they leave out the reality of the situation

A 13-year-old boy was jumped by a group of teenagers and it was all caught on camera. Angenette Levy has the story #LIVEonLocal12 News at 11 p.m.

Shay Nyunt Having taught in a black school, this is how they initiate someone onto the school band. Kids are really stupid. They also do this in elite boys schools.

Michelle Coen Edwards Monkey see, monkey do. If it had been one on one, the black kid would have probably lost big time. Thugs swarm like animals. They never fight one on one or fight fair, they always have someone who darts in from behind and then they all jump on.

Edgar Dana The blur didn't work. You can still see that they're colored, and the sucker punch from behind, the ganging up, and the running are dead giveaways anyway.
